Where He Got Off.

"I should have you understand," said the actor who was talking of salary for next season, "that I have arrived."

"I guess that's right," answered the manager, who was once a railroad conductor, "and having arrived, here is where you get off."

Whatever was required to be done, the circumlocution office was beforehand with all the public departments in the art of perceiving how not to do it.

WAR SUPPLIES AND SHIPMENT BY NEUTRALS

In view of the repeated questions here as to the shipment of war supplies in neutral territory, there is republished below a ruling of Robert Lansing, acting secretary of state, issued on October 14:

Mr. Lansing says he was prompted to make the statement by numerous inquiries and complaints indicating a widespread impression that American business men cannot sell war supplies to the belligerents without committing an unneutral act. The statement adds:

"In the first place, it should be understood that, generally speaking, a citizen of the United States can sell to a belligerent government or its agent any article of commerce which he pleases. He is not prohibited from doing this by any rule of international law, by any treaty provision, or by any statute of the United States. It makes no difference whether the articles sold are exclusively for war purposes, such as firearms, explosives, etc., or as foodstuffs, clothing, horses, etc., for the use of the army or navy of the belligerent."

"Furthermore, a neutral government is not compelled by international law, by treaty, or by statute to prevent these sales to a belligerent. Such sales, therefore, by American citizens do not in the least effect the neutrality of the United States."

"It is true that such articles as those mentioned are considered contraband and are, outside the territorial jurisdiction of a neutral nation, subject to seizure by an enemy of the purchasing government, but it is the enemy's duty to prevent the articles reaching their destination, not the duty of the nation whose citizens have sold them. If the enemy of the purchasing nation happens for the time to be unable to do this that is for him one of the misfortunes of war; the inability, however, imposes on the neutral government no obligation to prevent the sale."

"Neither the president nor any executive department of the government possesses the legal authority to interfere in any way with trade between the people of this country and the territory of a belligerent. There is no act of Congress referring such authority or prohibiting traffic of this sort with European nations, although, in the case of neighboring American republics, Congress has given the president power to proclaim an embargo on arms and ammunition when in his judgment it would tend to prevent civil strife."

"For the government of the United States itself to sell to a belligerent nation would be an unneutral act, but for a private individual to sell to a belligerent any product of the United States is neither unlawful nor unneutral, nor within the power of the executive to prevent or control."

"The foregoing remarks, however, do not apply to the outfitting or furnishing of vessels in American ports or of military expeditions on American soil in aid of a belligerent. These acts are prohibited by the neutrality laws of the United States."

JUDGE ASHFORD, IMPARTIAL, ACTS FOR DEFENDANT

The unusual spectacle of a judge on the bench acting as counsel for a defendant in a jury trial was presented in the criminal division of the first circuit court this morning. Ah In, the prisoner, at bar, pleaded not guilty, had no counsel, and stated through the court interpreter, that he did not desire the appointment of an attorney for the court.

"It is that even," said Judge Ashford, "it is up to the court to see that the defendant receives a proper hearing." Whereupon he proceeded to ask of jurors and witnesses the usual ordinary questions which regular counsel for the prisoner would have asked and which had to be asked to properly place the facts and the defendant's story before the jury.

Ah In was accused of breaking and entering the poi factory of another Chinese. His own version of his actions was unsatisfactory, and the jury quickly returned a verdict of guilty. Judge Ashford then sentenced him to imprisonment for a period of two years and three months.

Hugo Kanae, who had appealed from the judgment of the district court, which assessed a $25 fine for assault and battery, withdrew his case from Judge Ashford's court this morning, agreeing to pay the fine already fixed.

BY AUTHORITY.

SEALED TENDERS.

MRS. MABEN WAS MADE WELL

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Wants Other Suffering Women To Know It.

Murfreesboro, Tenn. — "I have wanted to write to you for a long time to tell you what your wonderful remedies have done for me. I was a sufferer from female weakness and displacement and I would have such tired, worn out feelings, sick headaches and dizzy spells. Doctors did me no good so I tried the Lydia E. Pinkham Remedies—Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash. I am now well and strong and can do all my own work. I owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and want other suffering women to know about it."—Mrs. H. E. MABEN, 211 S. Spring St., Murfreesboro, Tenn.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for nearly forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Why Lose Hope.
No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Jacob Morales, who was sentenced last March to a year in jail by District Magistrate Archie S. Mahulu of Waialua for assault and battery, was granted a pardon by the governor yesterday. This is the case recently investigated by Circuit Judge Ashford. Morales and a companion drew the maximum sentence at Mahulu's hands, though they assert they had no interpreter in court and did not understand what was being done with them.

The next session of the territorial grand jury probably will be held next Wednesday afternoon.

A Man Has No Use For a Chronic Kicker Unless She's In The Chorus

And no one has a kick coming when they confine their trade to this store. We sell the sort of clothes which have the kick removed before you get 'em. When you get your money's worth you are not going to kick—of course there is a kicker born every minute—so someone has said—and we will have them with us always, but with our guarantee of your money's worth to your entire satisfaction or your money back there can be no reason for any kick. Get your guilt here—get it today or tomorrow—buy now, and save money.

Hawaii Newspaper Day

Eyeglasses and spectacles should mean first of all preservation for the eye.

They should not be so strong as to usurp, but simply reinforce the functions of that organ.

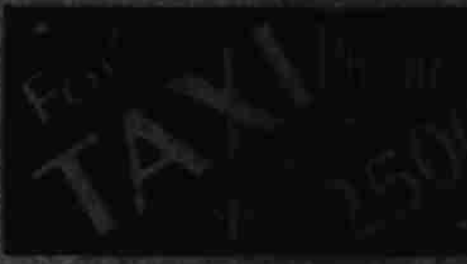

When fitting yourself, or worse still, allowing peddlers or incompetents to "fit" you invariably get a glass that enlarges objects beyond what Nature intended, which weakens the muscles and nerve forces, and in the end works incalculable harm.

It is our province to tell you just what your eyes need, to fit glasses that afford ease, comfort, safety and preservation.
